Mary Crisp, Charles H. Jones : A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Morgue before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Morgue:

Did you hear the one about the grandmother who fell into the baptistery while observing her granddaughter's baptism?

What about the coach who shot an armadillo tearing up the turf, only to find out he'd blasted a football? Sit back and enjoy this collection of funny snippets from everyday life, from church to fishing trips to sports. The gentle humor will remind you of your own family stories and people you know, from the little girl who blurts out the news about her mother's pregnancy during a church service to the woman who buys a donkey and drives him home in the backseat of her Fiat. Charles H. Jones and Mary Crisp have captured the lighter side of life in these true anecdotes, and they encourage everyone to have a laugh along with them. Whether at work, officiating at a basketball game, or teaching school, you'll see that people get themselves into all kinds of situations on the journey from birth to the grave. Even if you don't have a cow speak up at your wedding, as happened to one young couple, you'll soon find a new appreciation for the humor in your own life!
