Life can be quite an adventure0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. I want a farmBy TRISHA KINSEYThis book had me laughing so hard I cried. I also cried for the loses. But I still want my own hobby farm!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy brentvgreat stories, we know the author.

One llama, three alpacas, two miniature horses, and a passle of chickens—what could possibly go wrong? When Sue Stein moved back to the hobby farm where she grew up, it meant being able to have more than just cats and dogs. Or fish, or hamsters, or birds. It meant chickens of all shapes and sizes. Two miniature horses with outsize personalities. Three alpacas. And one stubborn, lecherous llama. Add to the mixture wildlife like raccoons, wild turkeys, a bald eagle, a bobcat, and sprinkle in various rabid critters. Season liberally with several packs of very hungry coyotes and you have the perfect recipe for hobby farm mayhem. Join Sue as she keeps the wildlife at bay and manages to keep her animals safe from harm, and her sanity fairly intact.

About the Author Sue Stein grew up on a rural acreage in Minnesota, returning there to live after inheriting the property. She was excited to become a hobby farmer. Now she knows better.
