Chandler So far this calendar retains the same format as the previous few, rehashes quotes from the series and tells you who said them. The main problem, and I agree with another reviewer here, is that the quotes only come from the last few seasons, which have been lackluster at best. I really wish they would have included some of the classic quotes from the earlier seasons, as those quotes are much more memorable than the ones printed on this calendar. Calendar is made of recycled paper, and has a standard plastic easel to stand on your desk or countertop. Overall this is an average calendar, you could do much worse for your desk but I still enjoy some of the quotes from Jim, Dwight, Andy, and the rest of the Office gang. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great as always By Dave Good quality calendar, very funny quotes. I get the for my husband every year and he really enjoyed having it on his desk at work 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Buy something else By One Boring jokes, no color, or any photos. While I did know that the calendar is simply consistent of quotes, I at least expected to be a little entertained. Just like last 2 seasons of the show (since Steve Carell left), this calendar is boring, slow, and not funny. I miss my Dilbert calendar.

After eight laugh-filled seasons, The Office continues to be one of the funniest comedy series on television. Everyone at Dunder Mifflin is nervous to meet the new boss, the enigmatic Robert California. Also, the new regional manager is revealed, and in another surprise, Jim and Pam are expecting another baby! All of these memorable moments and more are captured in the NBC's The Office 2013 Day-to-Day Calendar, which contains dialogue and quotes from the award-winning series.
