Just Plain Fun To Read!By Catherine ElizabethWe own all the Baby Blues books. The parents kids in the strip are funny because they're grounded in the loud, smelly, dirty, loving, sleepless, happy reality of having raising children. The strips are mostly outright hilarious. They are sometimes poignant, but never sappy or preachy. There is no overarching "soap opera" filled with angst, as is found in many similar strips. These strips are just fun, funny, funniest. Our elementary-age son loves them, also.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. BB #20By Robyn CloughI love the Baby Blues series from beginning to present, it never fails to make me laugh. I can relate to so much of it! Glad I got to find all of the books on for great prices to read through the ones I never read!

Baby Blues makes life with children seem funny, even when they smear peanut butter on the walls and give the baby a makeover with Mom's cosmetics. Says writer Jerry Scott, "'As long as kids keep having runny noses and wiping them on the drapes, we're in business.'"Our Server is Down captures the perils and pratfalls of raising young children in suburbia. Daryl and Wanda MacPherson are a couple in their mid-thirties struggling to juggle work and three kids with hectic schedules-and maintain their sanity. Zoe, the talkative eldest, is seven and more worldly than ever. Hammie is the newly anointed (by the recent birth of baby Wren) middle child. At age five, he's a willing student for Zoe and a virtual Velcro board for blame. Wren is the newest addition to the MacPherson clan-so far, all giggles and sunshine . . . with a few clouds on the horizon. Parents worldwide have delighted in this slice-of-life comic since its debut in 1990.

About the Author Rick Kirkman of Phoenix, Ariz., and Jerry Scott of San Luis Obispo, Calif., launched Baby Blues in 1990 and have spent the years since getting the strip "just right." Jerry also writes the award-winning comic strip Zits and has received a Reuben Award for Outstanding Cartoonist of the Year by the National Cartoonist Society.
