By A Customer Here are just a few of the "reviews" I get every day from the children I work with about "Brain Cell": "Read it again! Read it again!" "Wave at the waves!" "Eww, don't eat jellyfish! Gross!" "The sheep is getting wet! Watch out! Splash!" "Christy, get the funny story!" The children love this book! The simple pictures and easy-to-read rhymes make it fun for them to look at and hear as well as enjoyable for me to read out loud. I still cannot get through it without laughing and I think that's one of the reasons the kids like it so much! "Brain Cell" is fun for the pure sake of being just that, fun! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Love this book!! Adorable! By Kirsten I've read this to my two boys so often that I have it memorized!!! Totally cute, easy to read, and very colorful!

From the team that brought you "Bat", "Spider", "Slug" and "Cat", "Dog", "Plankton" and "Amoeba" comes this zany, rhyming comedy classic about Brain Cell, a most misunderstood character.

From Kirkus s This book in the Bang On The Door series features a daisy-shaped blank with two dots for eyes on a stem of a body. Brain Cell talks in riddles and rhymes: "If a door is ajar, / Is a jar a door?," and "Can a horsefly? / Or a sheep dip?" The boldly colored, childlike scribbles of artwork give clues to the fanciful meanings, but while the pictures are aimed at the very young, the riddles have no real answers and also defy categorization as nonsense: "Will the bread run out, when the butterflies?" None too clever, especially when Brain Cell takes over a classroom, dons the name "Prof," and bores the students to sleep. (Picture book. 6-8) -- Copyright 1997, Kirkus Associates, LP.
