Doug Robertson : THE Teaching Text (You're Welcome) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised THE Teaching Text (You're Welcome):

There is literally nothing more important that you could do with one dollar than buy Mr. Robertson's book.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Thank you for allowing me the privilege of reading this!By GoodbookloverI am so honored to have the...honor...of reading yet another masterpiece by the great Mr. Robertson!

Where has this book been all of my life? I don't know how I managed without it all these years. It tells you everything you have ever needed to know about teaching, and should be used in all preservice programs across the nation...nay, around the world! Actually, alien life forms will probably (whoops, I mean definitely) benefit from the golden nuggets found between the covers. This book is seriously like "The Prince" for educators. In 500 years, people will totally miss the point of the satire, and Doug will become the most controversial figure in early 21st century education...besides Arne Duncan. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A must read, funny and entertaining. By Timothy Robertson THE Teaching Text (You're Welcome) is another must read from author/teacher Doug Robertson. You should buy both copies, the soft cover for your book shelf and the e book that you can take with you everywhere. Doug's humor is laugh out loud funny, I totally enjoyed this book.

Douglas James Robertson (author of "He's the The Weird Teacher") is widely recognized as the most innovative, challenging, skilled, and handsome educator this planet has seen since the first fish pulled itself from the primordial ooze. His new book brilliantly covers The Test, controlling administrators, being connected, and so much more. If you have a question about teaching the answer is in this book. If the answer isn't in this book your question was dumb.*

About the Author Doug Robertson has been an elementary school teacher for nine years now. As low man on the totem pole he moved around a lot, but it has given him a chance to experience all kinds of teachers and students. He now resides in southern Oregon with his wife and son, where he teaches fourth grade (again). For fun he trains for triathlons, rides his motorcycle, and makes small children cry at the mall. Doug vehemently resists the negative stereotype of teachers and fights for teacher rights as often as he can. He advocates for his students and loves and believes in each and every one of them. Doug has a grand plan to become a famous teacher and infect future generations of educators and students with his philosophy, which will lead to a joyous education renaissance, flying unicorns, and rock and roll for all.
