Ray Smit has been delighting readers with his hilarious take on family life for nearly two decades as a humour columnist. Now, for the first time, his unique brand of humour is available to everyone in his literary debut: The Trouble With Tapioca. Readers from nine to ninety will love Ray's side-splitting tales of the journey from childhood to middle age. His poignant insights into love, success and facing our imperfections will touch your heart and your soul. Here at last is a book that is funny, intimate and family friendly. Stories like How I Taught Jim Carrey Everything He Knows, My Machismo Gets 20 Miles Per Gallon and Confessions of A Hyper Hypochondriac will make you laugh out loud. Others like Careless Words, Thanksgiving and Our Green and Silver Surprise will make you want to hug someone close. This is a book everyone will enjoy and any Christian can recommend.
