He's played 400 courses, including Pebble Beach, Spy Glass and Doral. To support his golf addiction, Jack was a key player in the growth of the consumer electronics industry in the United States. In 1967, he became the first president of the American division of Tokyo-based Pioneer Electronics. In the next 20 years, he increased sales from zero to over $500,000,000. Even better? The Japanese love golf! In 2006, Jack was inducted into the Consumer Electronics Hall of Fame, which in some circles is on par with the World Golf Hall of Fame. By "some circles," he means his wife, Anne, their four children and ten grandchildren.
