Frank Warren : The World of PostSecret before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The World of PostSecret:

In The World of PostSecret, Frank Warren also has a series of secrets from the now unavailable app. He talks about the app as well and why it was taken down. My favorite part here was where people found friends through the app or found comfort in the replies they got to their secrets. He also offers a glimpse at some of the international PostSecrets and there is even some commentary from his beloved mail carrier. Frank talks about his own secrets; there is one in every book. And he wraps up with what is the perfect secret. I always find some of my own secrets there on the page, written in someone else's hand writing just as

Frank suggests. You'll know them when you read them because they make you get teary eyed, or your heart skips a beat, or you hold your breath. There is a piece of everyone here in the world of PostSecret. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. I've got a secret. By mamananewmA brief history of this book...a little over 10 years ago, Frank Warren gave out postcards, asking random people to decorate a postcard and write a secret that they had never previously revealed. The postcards were then mailed back to him for compilation. This is an endearing book, allowing the reader to catch just a glimpse of someone's personal, sometimes humorous and sometimes heart wrenching mini thoughts and secrets. This book is wildly popular with the college crowd as well as anyone interested in a light read, and would make an excellent gift. If you like those confession articles in many of the magazines, you will love this book. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Frank Warren Has Done It Again! By Happy Hour I've been a MASSIVE fan of Frank Warren and PostSecret long before he started putting "our" secrets together in book-form. And was thrilled to see that he finally had another book set for release, as it's been quite some time between books. Each of his PostSecret books are better than the previous! He added a lot of personal touches of his own, to this particular release that made it extra special. Though I received my book in damaged condition due to a packaging error, I loved going through each and every page. There's something special about reading and absorbing someone else's "secret"! PostSecret fans, this isn't a book you'll want to miss! And for those of whom that are new to PostSecret, you'll love it equally as much!

About the Author Frank Warren started PostSecret as a community art project where he invited total strangers to anonymously mail in their secrets on a homemade postcard. This simple act sparked a global phenomenon. Frank has received over 1 million secrets in his mailbox with more arriving every day but Sunday. PostSecret.com has won seven Webby Awards and is the most visited advertisement-free blog in the world. The postcards have been curated for five New York Times bestselling books and have been exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art and the American Visionary Art Museum. Frank has traveled the world sharing secrets and stories from Australia to the White House. There is a PostSecret album, a PostSecret TED Talk and a PostSecret Play on tour. In 2011 Frank was awarded the 'HopeLine Lifetime Achievement Award' for his work on suicide prevention and was invited to the White House to work on issues of mental wellness. Frank lives in Germantown, Maryland, with his wife and daughter.
