If you are a helpless romantic and simply love love, this is the book for you! It's a collection of love letters written by real people to other real people; some are sweet, some are salty, some are funny and just all around heartfelt words. I also like the images throughout the book, it gives you another way; through pictures, to experience these letters. 3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. I definitely loved some parts more than others, but of course everyone is going to enjoy certain parts based on what your current love life is like/your past experiences are. it doesn't matter if you're in love or if you're going through a breakup or if you've never even experienced love before. if you're interested in love and what it means to you, what it means to others and what it can do to people — please read this. also, the only reason this gets 4/5 for me is because I wish it was longer. also, I wish it included more heartbreaking poems. don't get me wrong, I absolutely adored the beginning and middle of this book because it reminded me of what being in love feels like — it was nostalgic and beautiful and even comical at times. I just wish the end were just as power/fulfilling in terms of heartache.

In the tradition of Post Secret and Other People's Love Letters, a crowdsourced compilation of letters, stories, and art work about the modern state of love and relationships, edited by rising filmmaker and beloved YouTube vlogger Will Darbyshire. "What would you say to your ex, without judgment?" This is the question filmmaker and vlogger Will Darbyshire posed to hundreds of thousands of his closest friends on YouTube. Seeking closure after a tough break-up, Will was driven to strike up an intimate conversation with his online audience, and to get at the heart of one of life's unknowable yet universal mysteries: love. Over a period of six months, Will posed a series of questions to his audience and asked them to reveal their innermost feelings about their own romantic experiences in the form of hand-written letters, poems, photographs, and emails. The result is a curated collection of responses that are, at turns, funny, dark, confessional, awkward, comforting, and uplifting. This Modern Love is a compelling portrait of individual desires, fantasies, resentments, and fears that reminds us that, whether we're in or out of love, we're not alone.
